Does the publication (workflow) status have an effect on what is shown on the TU/e website?

A publication record in Pure has three possible steps or workflow statuses:

1. Entry in progress
2. For validation
3. Validated

A user can switch between 1 and 2, only validation staff (from the IEC department) can set a publication to validated. It is important to note however, that a publication will always be shown on the TU/e website, regardless of the workflow status. We do not filter any workflow steps to prevent visibility issues; in some cases it might be important to show a publication on the website even when it is not complete yet (for review purposes or grant applications for instance).

If publication on the website is not intended/desired, please use the relevant visibility option on the metadata or full text (set it to backend or confidential).